About SBIR:

The federal Small Business Innovation Research (SBIR) provides over $2B each year to fund research and development performed by small businesses. Eleven federal agencies participate and fund R&D in phases towards commercializing new technologies and innovations.

At the Hawaii SBIR/ STTR Conference small businesses will:

- Learn how to compete for federal R&D funds to develop an array of innovations of critical importance to the U.S.
- Meet one-on-one with the federal agencies program managers
- Meet with Hawaii's resource organizations that assist companies with the SBIR process and/or transition to commercialization
- See successful SBIR companies' exhibition of products
- Learn how to productize their R&D product, protect their intellectual property, and cost accounting
